

ANATOMY OF A STEER

Activity:

After studying, fill in the names of each part of the steer's body.
See how many you can get right!

Mini Quiz:

Fill in the blank:

- The _____ is located between a steer's ears at the top of the head and is used as a reference point when haltering or showing cattle.

Multiple Choice:

- Where is the brisket located on a steer, and why is it important?
 - On the back; helps with balance
 - Between the front legs; supports weight and is a popular beef cut
 - Near the tail; helps with movement
 - On the head; used for identification

Fill in the blank:

- The bony landmarks on a steer's hip and rump, used to evaluate muscling and structure, are called _____ and _____.